

Seize the Bean

Public English Print & Play v3.15.0

Hello there! Welcome to the Seize the Bean public print and play. We're glad to see you here. Please note that you are viewing the public print and play, so it's totally OK for you to share or give it to other people. The more the merrier! Because this is the public version, it only includes some of the cards from the game. Don't worry, you'll still be able to play a full game and experience a lot of the gameplay.

Our private print and play (which includes the full game with all its cards and variants) is currently available only to our Kickstarter backers as well as anyone who has purchased it from our pre-order store (<http://preorder.qualitybeast.com>). We may release the full private print and play publicly in the future, but it won't be until after all of the backers and pre-order customers have received their physical copies of the game.

Note: For a full list of what is or isn't in the public or private print and plays, please see the Included Gameplay section below.

Updates

For those that printed a previous version and are wondering what is new, the following (summarized) changes have been made to the print and play:

- All Customer and Upgrade cards have been reworked extensively (new iconography, different icons, full art).
- Player boards have been updated with both graphic design layout and artwork.
- Many tokens have been redesigned with new iconography and layout.

Work-In-Progress

While this print and play is very much near final there are still some parts that are not completely done.

- The back of the Customer Group Awards are very first draft.
 - We want to try to make the iconography larger, if possible.
 - We want to finish filling out the text and Ability icons.
 - We want to adjust the layout to have less negative space and larger text.
- The backs of the Player Aids need updated art and graphic layout.
- There are a few required artwork changes coming to about 3 or 4 cards.
- The "Steal a Customer" icon isn't updated on this print and play yet.

Instructions

Seize the Bean is a big game when it comes to printing and cutting it out yourself. If you want to get a test game going before printing everything, you only need to print the following items:

- Friends & Family cards (Pages 5 - 15)
- Hipsters Customers & Upgrades (Pages 15 - 18, 39 - 42, 51 - 54, and 63 - 64)
- Tourists Customers & Upgrades (Pages 17 - 20, 41 - 42, 53 - 54, and 63 - 64)
- Musicians Customers & Upgrades (Pages 19 - 22, 41 - 44, 53 - 56, and 65 - 66)
- Party Animals Customers & Upgrades (Pages 21 - 24, 43 - 44, 55 - 56, and 65 - 66)
- Start Uppers Customers & Upgrades (Pages 23 - 26, 43 - 46, 55 - 58, and 65 - 66)
- Cyclists Customers & Upgrades (Pages 25 - 28, 45 - 46, 57 - 58, and 65 - 66)
- Player Aids (Pages 67 - 68)
- Tokens (Pages 73 - 92)
- Player Boards (Pages 93 - 104)

For further instructions on how to print each of the component types, please see below.

1. Cards

- a. Print the cards duplex (double-sided).
- b. Cut out on the corner cut marks that appear on the fronts.
- c. Resulting cards should be approximately 50 x 75 mm in size.

2. Tokens

- a. Print the tokens duplex (double-sided).
- b. Cut out the tokens along their “die lines” (the pink lines on the fronts).

3. Player Boards

- a. Print the player boards duplex (double-sided).
- b. Cut out along their cut marks near the corners (on the fronts).

4. Resources & Other Components

- a. Use stand-in resources or proxies to replace the resources and scoop.

5. Rules

- a. The latest version of the main Rulebook can be found online at:
<http://rulebook.seizethebean.com/>
- b. The latest version of the Variant Rulebook can be found online at:
<http://variantrulebook.seizethebean.com/>

Concierge

founded in 1994 by

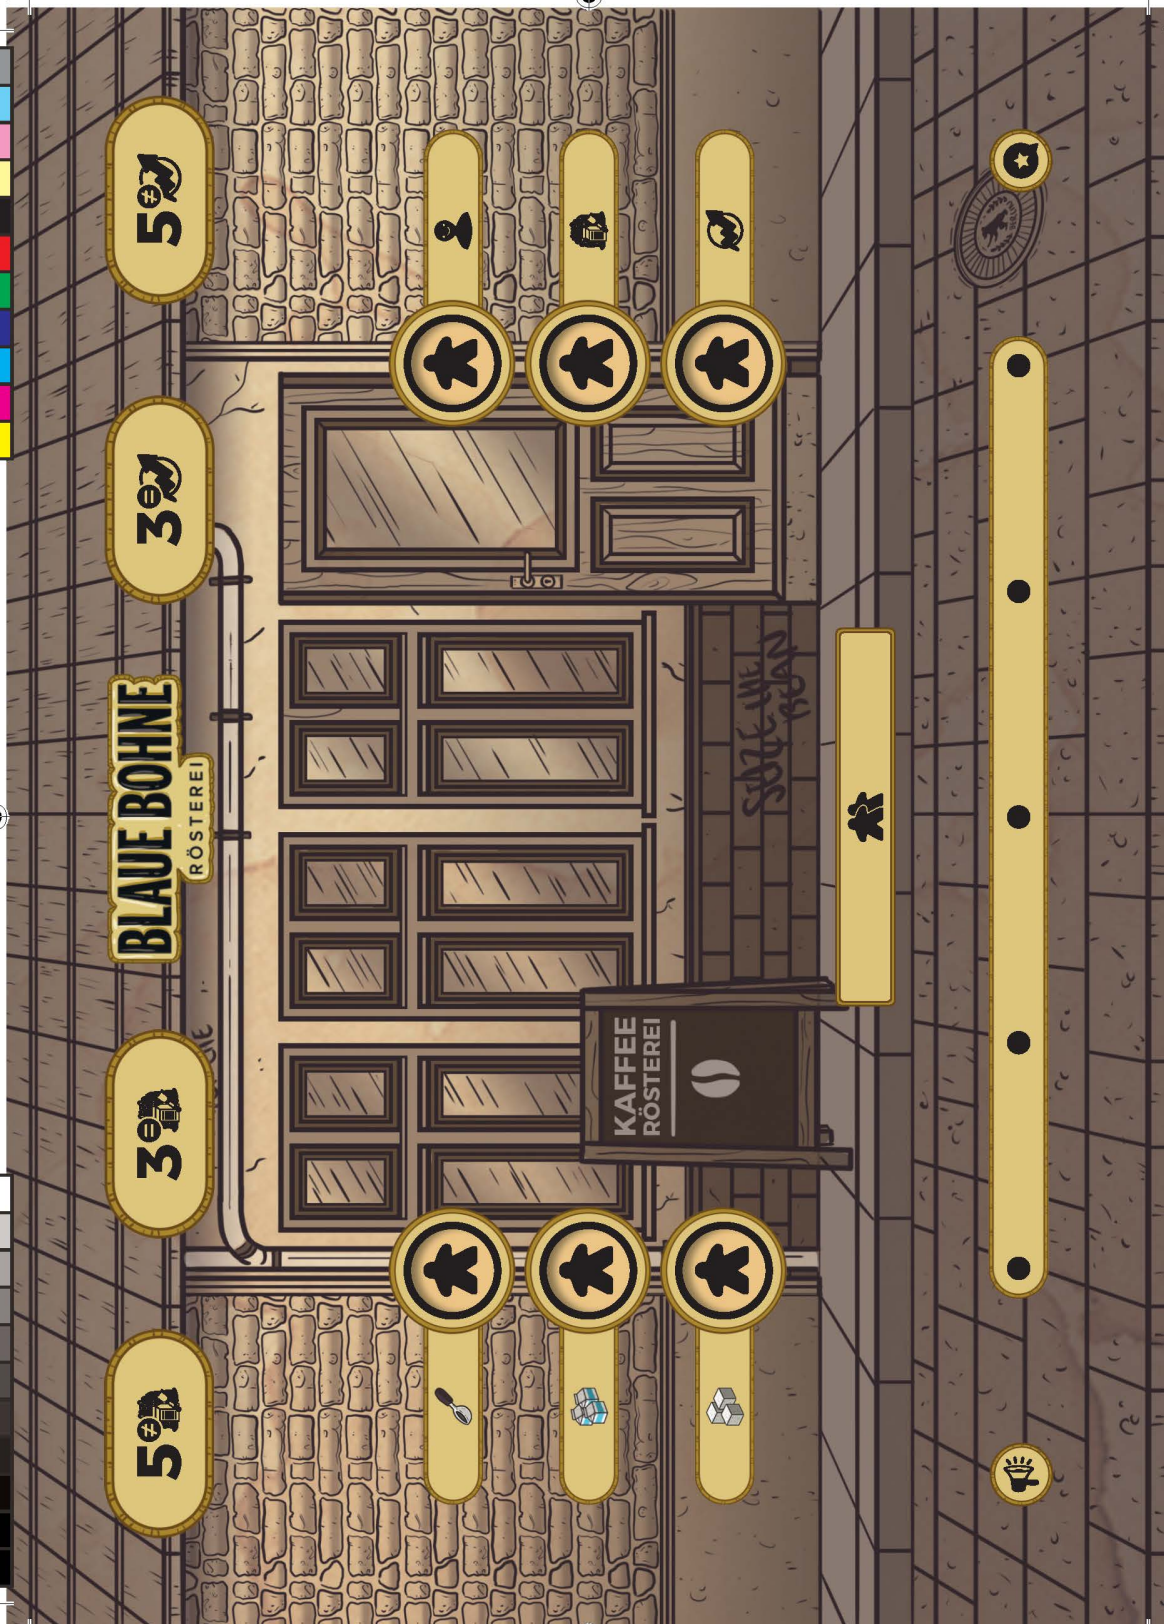

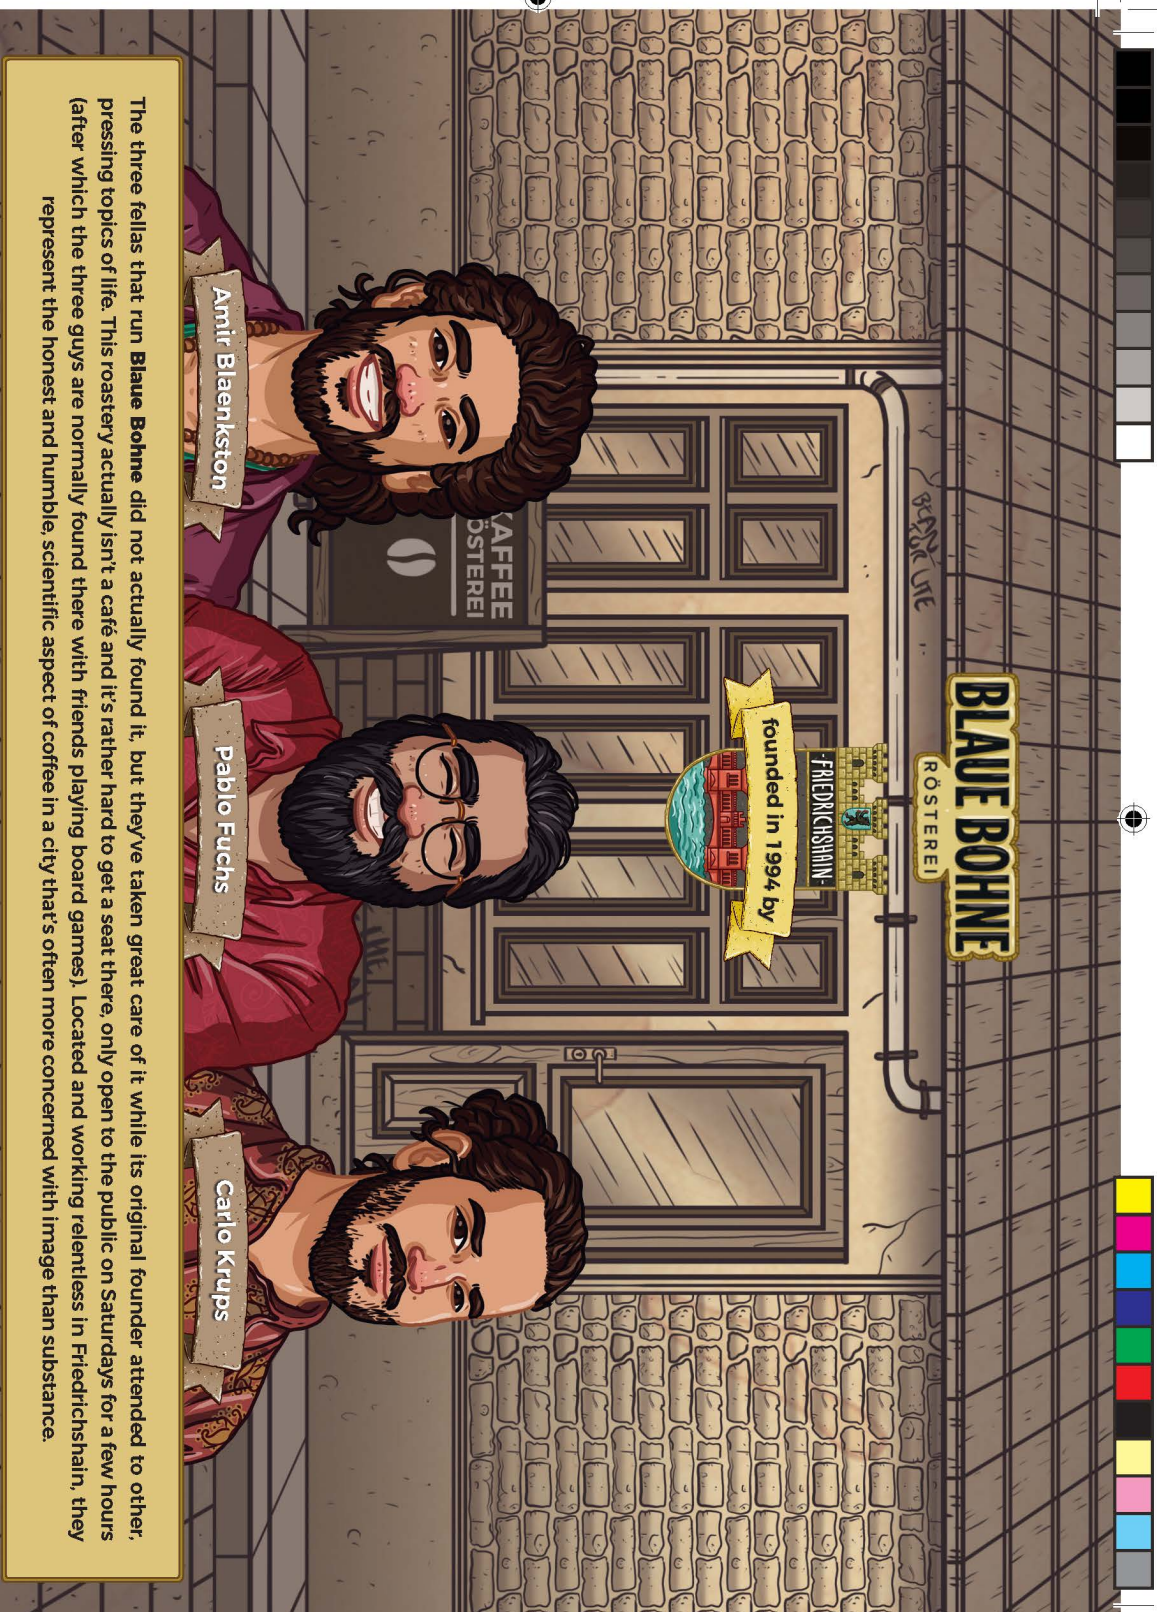

Benjamin Pates

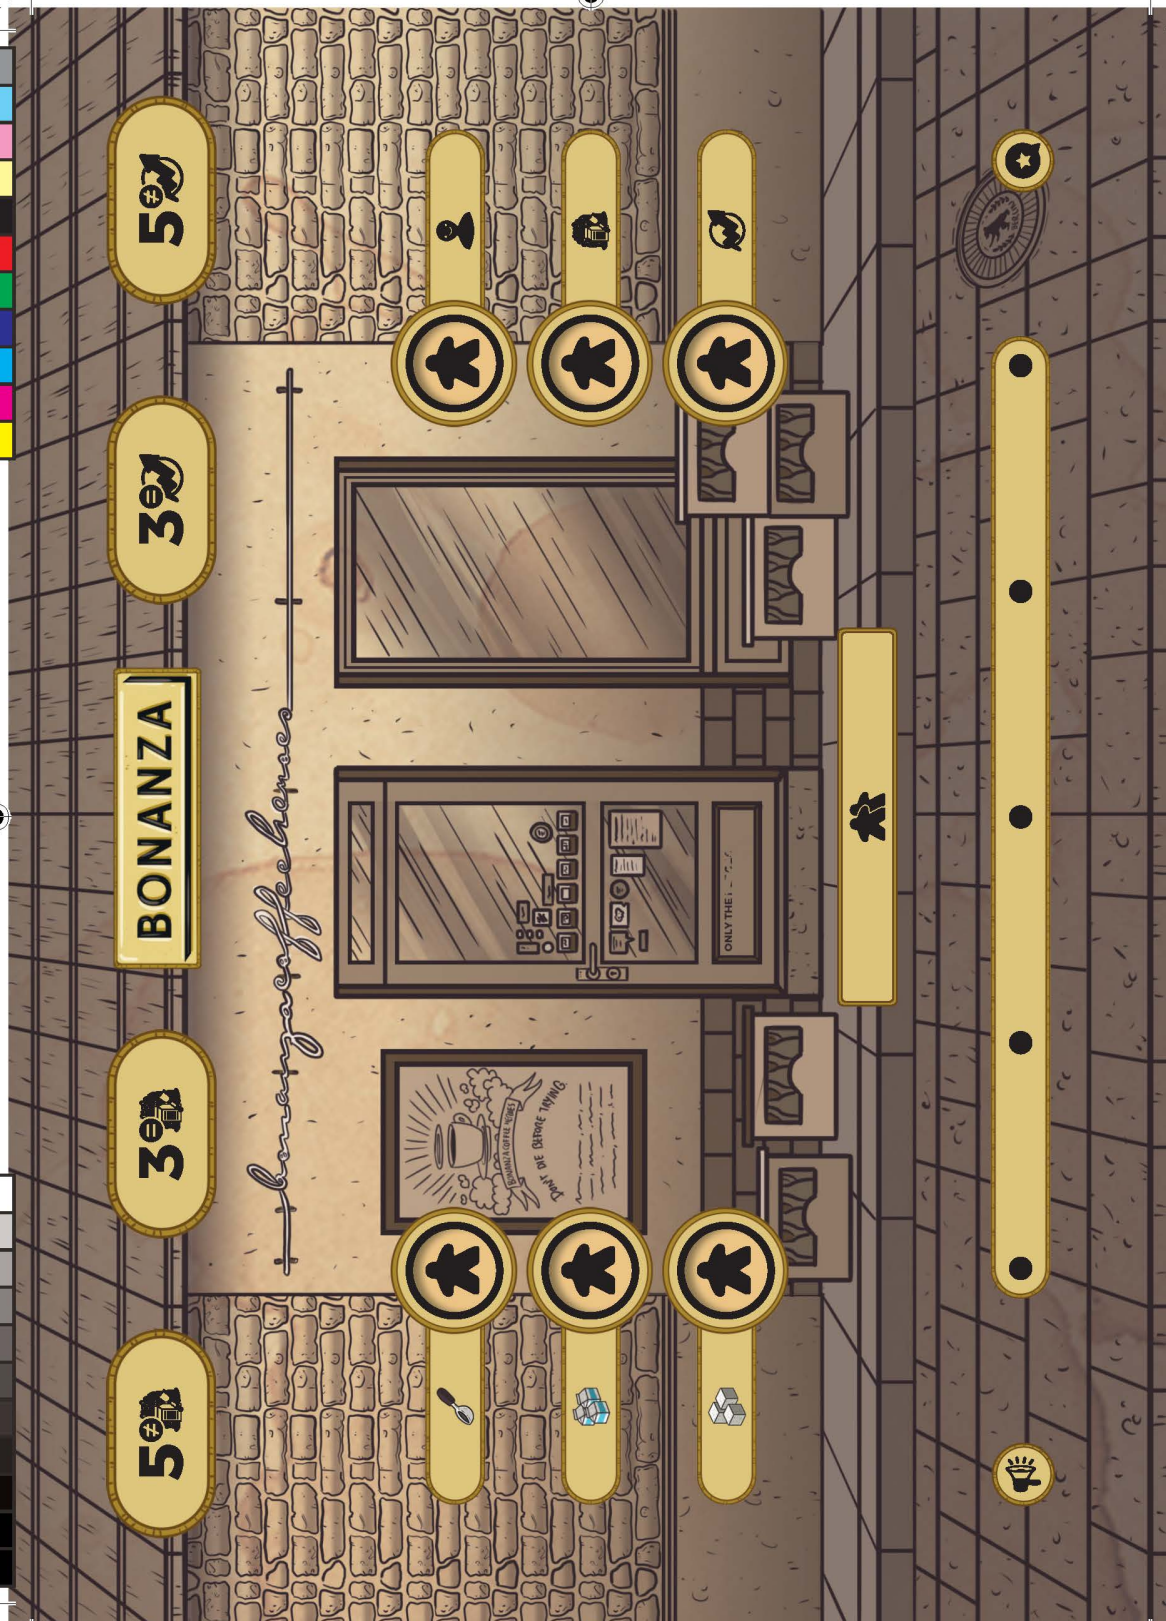

Namy Nostatiard

It all began with Concierge Coffee, the café that Seize the Bean is based on. Before opening Concierge, Benjamin and Namy both worked at Bonanza, one of the most renowned roasteries in Berlin. With the experience, knowledge and passion they gained there, they quit their jobs to open their own hole-in-wall coffee shop (literally) in a tunnel along the canal in Kreuzberg. Among daily start uppers, tourists crowd, family regulars and a bustling cast of nightlife characters, they blew their little café up and grew it into the famous roastery it is now.

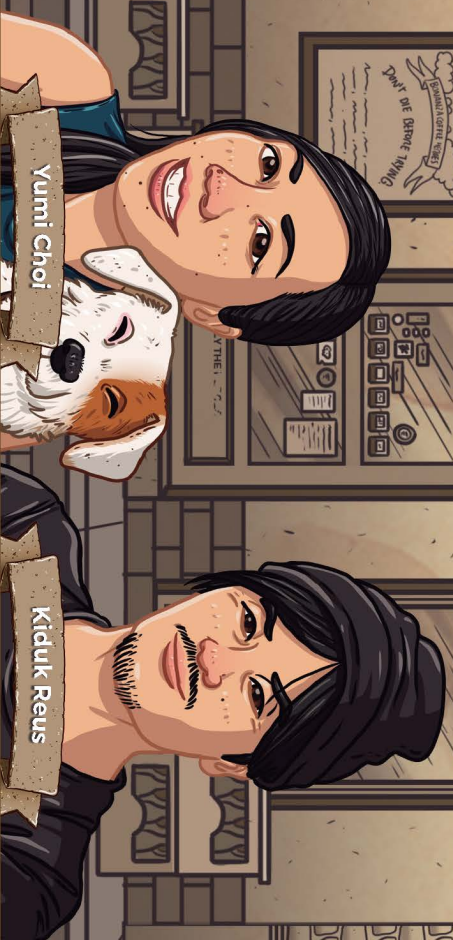

BONANZA

Mauerpark

founded in 1994 by

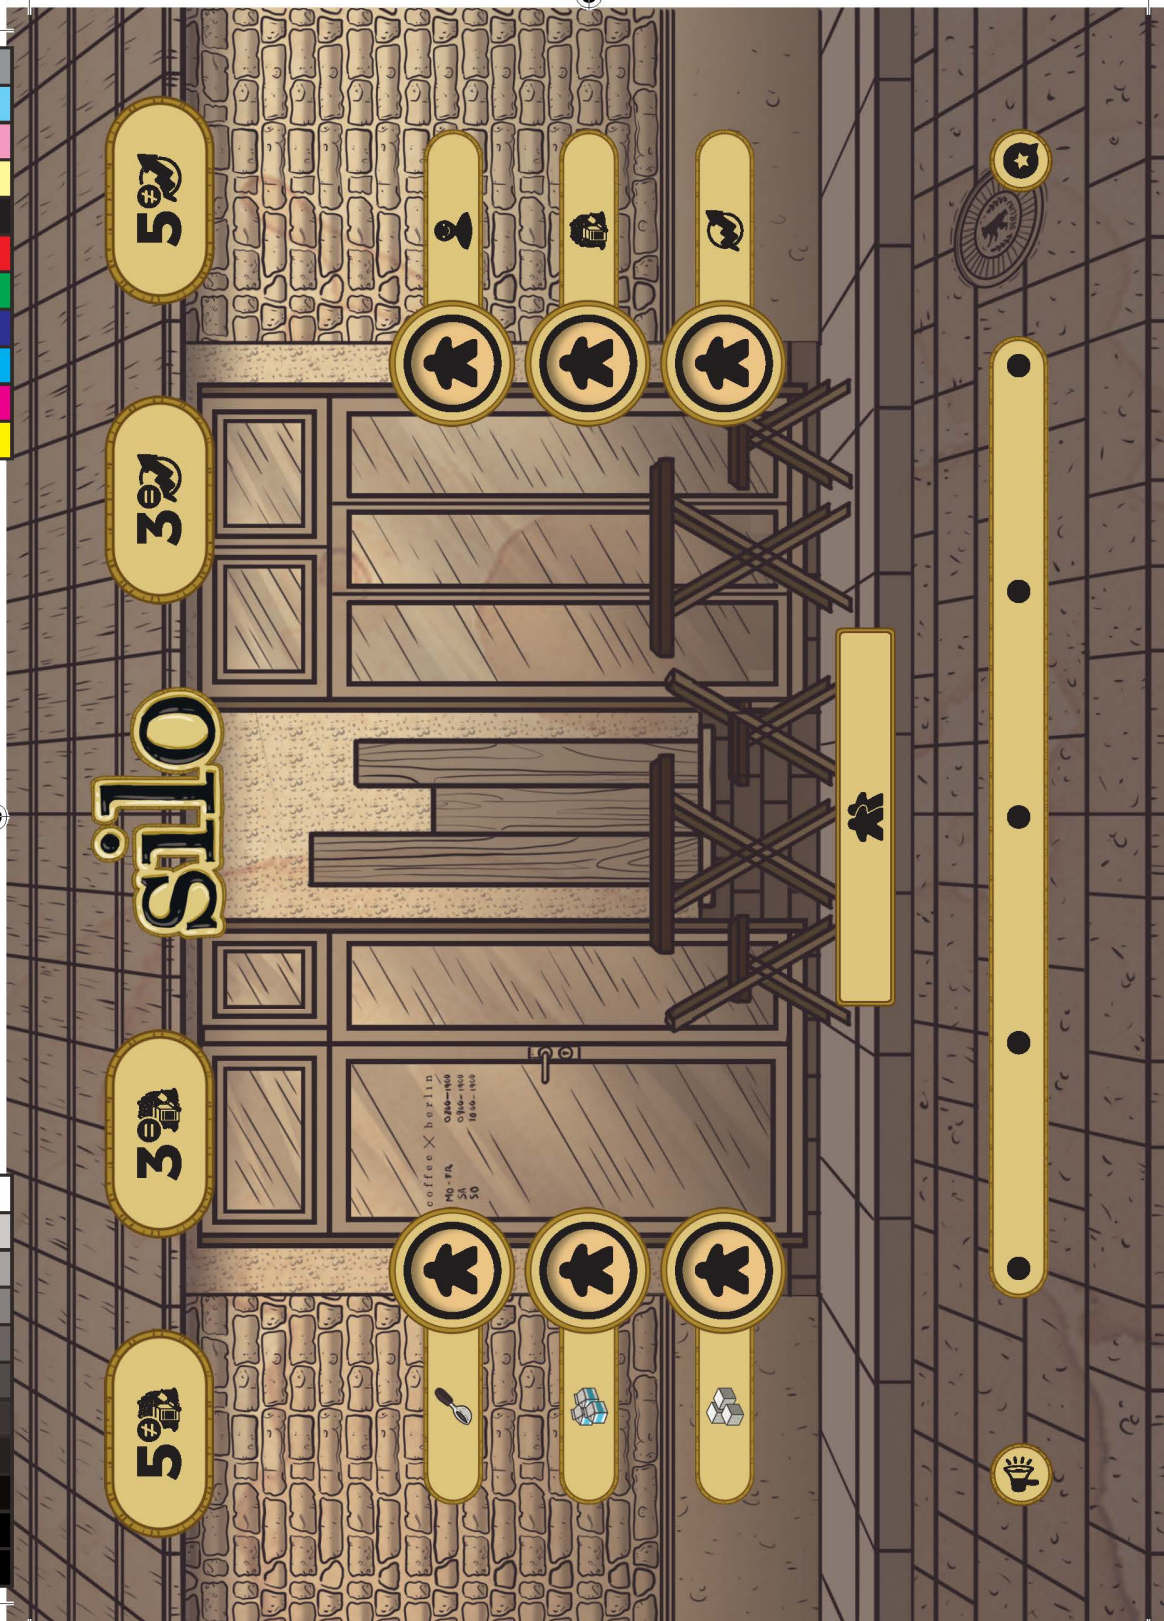

Yumi Choi

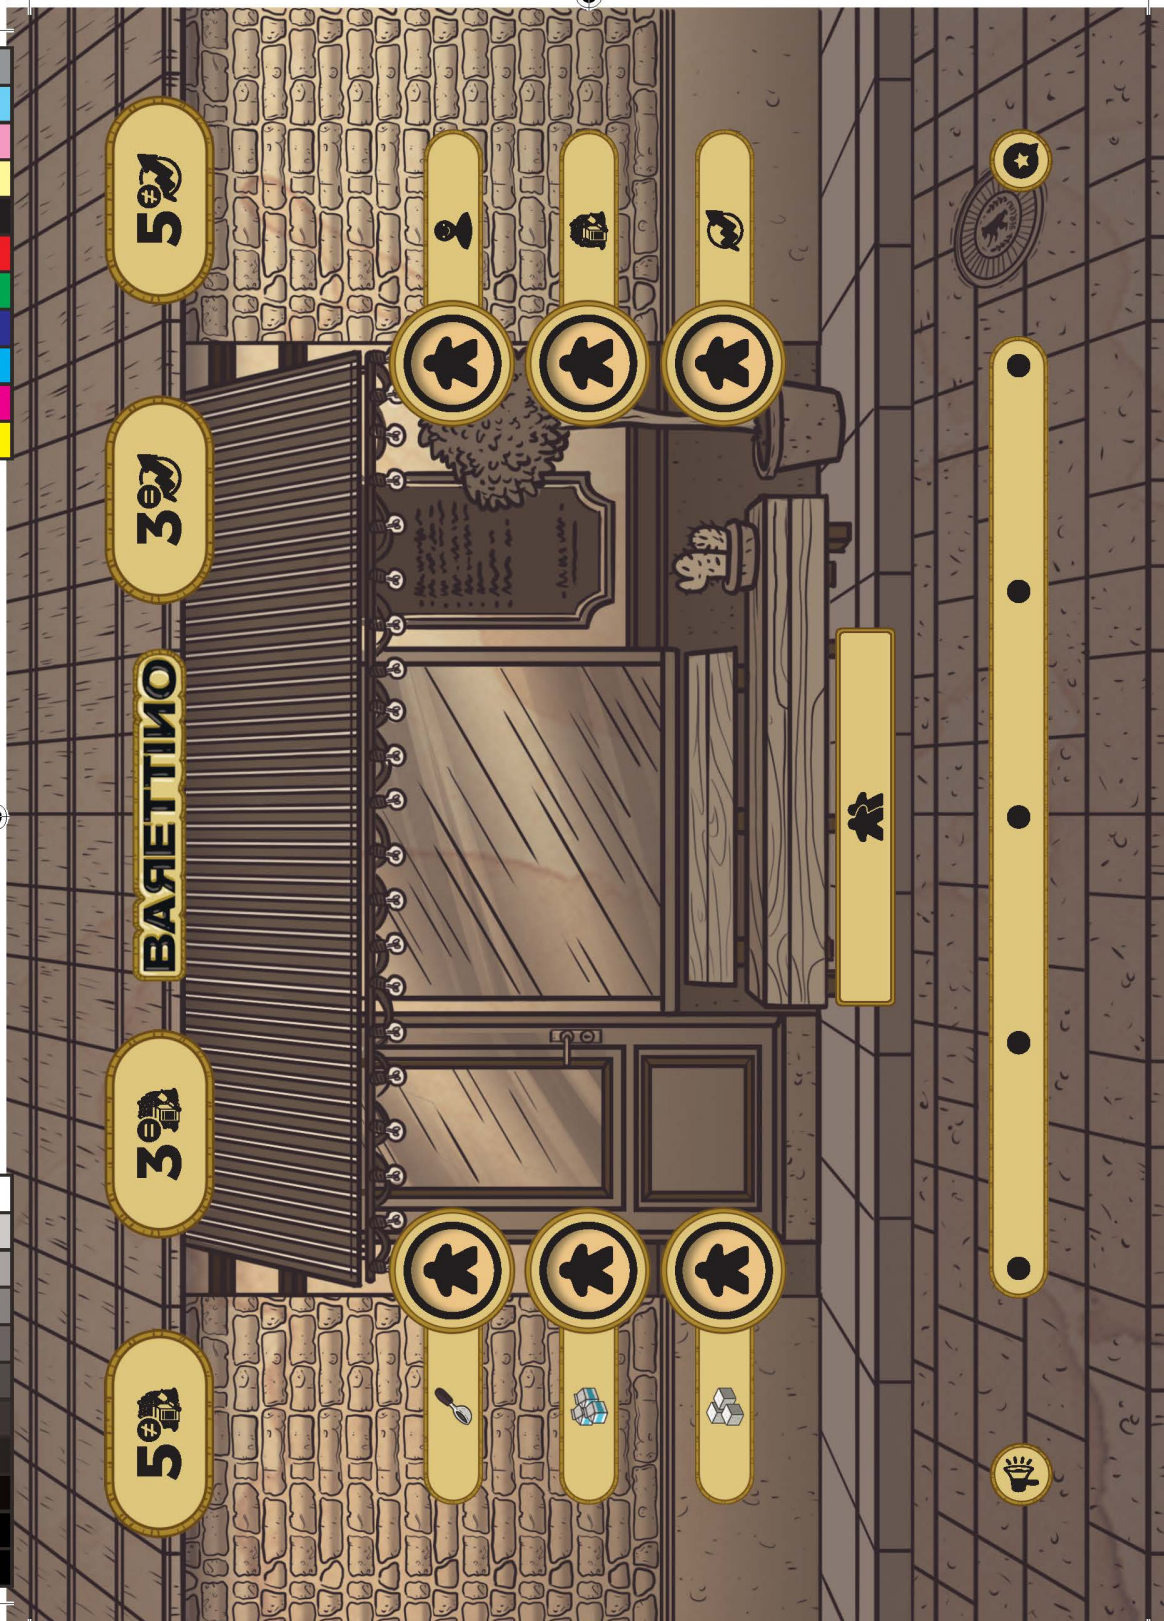

Kiduk Reus

One of the most well-known roasteries in Berlin, Bonanza has left its mark on the city for sure. High quality blends, baristas who very much know what they're doing, and an extremely prime location just below Mauerpark in Prenzlauer Berg, Bonanza Coffee Heroes – as it was originally called – is not a spot to miss if you're visiting Berlin and love coffee. Just be prepared for crowds because with all that fame and success comes the inevitable masses.

BARETTINO

founded in 1994 by

Maria Oliveri

Djamilia Imberi

A lesser known gem in Neukölln, Baretтино can be said to be the least involved in the “Berlin coffee scene” when compared to the other featured roasteries. And that is precisely why it’s so important. The “coffee scene” – like in any industry – is mostly limited to those in the know, but the larger population of Berlin is less concerned with any scene and simply looking for a lovely, comfortable, culturally inspiring place to have a hot cup and perhaps some delicious treats to dine on. When that’s you, then Baretтино is your place for sure.
